JR. HIGH SCHOOL IS TODAY'S TOPIC FOR SCHOOLMEN

The Junior high school was the subject for this morning's sessions of the three-day Schoolmen's conference being held at Gettysburg college.

Fifty educators from Adams, Franklin and York counties are participating in the series of conferences on school topics. This afternoon the group will close its discussions with a series of talks on legislative matters affecting the public schools.

Dr. George F. Stover, dean of Western Maryland college, was consultant on the discussion of the curriculum and organization of the Junior high school this morning. At the same time two other groups were studying extra-curricular activities under the chairmanship of Guile W. Lefever, principal of Gettysburg high school, and guidance under the chairmanship of Dr. Lloyd C. Keefauver, superintendent of the Gettysburg public schools.

Teach "Life" The educators agreed that something more than fusing subjects is needed in a discussion of "What subjects should be considered related?"

A start on the "Core" method could be made by setting aside a certain period during which social studies and English are taught without setting a hard and fast period during which English would be taught and another period during (Please turn to Page 2)

HOSPITAL PARTY MOVED TO ANNEX

In a special announcement today by Mrs. Elmer W. Warren, chairman of benefits for the Warner hospital Auxiliary, it was revealed that the Auxiliary-sponsored dance to be held here Thursday evening, June 26, will take place in the auditorium of the Hotel Gettysburg annex instead of in the hotel dining room as previously planned.

Mrs. Warren said the change was decided upon to accommodate the many persons who asked that card playing be included in the evening's program. The committee has switched the affair to the large auditorium to provide ample space for both dancing and cards.

The auditorium will be converted into a "June garden" by a Harrisburg decorator who has been employed to make the site for the card party and dance attractive to all. The floor is being re-finished for the dancers. Prizes for bridge and 500 will be provided.

Howard Gale's orchestra from Harrisburg, which is filling eight summer week-end engagements at the Steel pier at Atlantic City will play for the dancing.

Tickets are to be available at the door.

An extra, unscheduled session of the Adams County Court will be held here July 12, the office of the clerk of the courts said today. No court calendar for this special day has been made up, Mrs. Emma Sheffer, clerk, said, but cases will include desertion and non-support, hearings on persons in arrears on their support payments, appeals, and summary convictions.

A hearing may also be held on this date in the appeal for a new trial filed on behalf of Ray H. Simmons, Mechanic, convicted in court here May 6 on a charge of first degree murder for the death of Herbert L. Humpert, Gardner's D. D. farmer.

Whether the appeal is argued then may depend upon whether Mrs. Annabelle Little, court stenographer, has completed the transcript of the testimony offered at the trial. More than 300 pages of the transcript were taken up in the examination of jurors for the Simmons trial, the court clerk said. Simmons' conviction carried with it the death penalty.

Present S.S. Payroll Tax Rates Frozen

Washington, June 18 (AP)—The House passed unanimously today a bill freezing the Social Security payroll tax at present rates for two years.

If passed by the Senate and accepted by President Truman the measure will block an automatic $2,000,000,000 annual increase in the levy on January 1.

The legislation provides, however, for an increase in the tax in 1950 to from one per cent to 1.5 per cent each against employees' pay and employer's payrolls. In 1957 the tax would jump to two per cent against each.

Without the freeze, the levy would have increased January 1 to 2.5 per cent against employer and employee. The present one per cent tax collects about $1,500,000,000 annually for the Social Security old age and survivors insurance program.

JR. HIGH SCHOOL

which social studies would be taught.

Would Relate Subjects

During one period a social studies program might be taught, the educators pointed out, and in another the entire period might be devoted to English. Later in the school year, they suggested the students should attack a problem not in the textbook.

As an example of what they meant by relating all subjects, the educators pointed out, each teacher, no matter what subject he or she might teach, should also attempt to develop skills in reading.

One participant in the discussion pointed out that "the idea is to get each subject out of its tight little box and relate it to all others. The mathematics teacher should also be teaching reading. The student writing a theme in history is also using his knowledge of grammar and the theme should be considered in that way. The English student studying some famous writing is also studying history."

Suggest Study Groups

One way to help the students outlined at the meeting is for teachers to form study groups to explore the needs of the pupils and to determine what needs to be done to fill those needs. Then all of the teachers would stress the things found to be needed.

Discussing a point of whether to hire teachers for both junior and senior high schools or for the junior high school alone, the educators came to the conclusion that it was best to keep the junior high separate so that the best features of the elementary curriculum could be kept in the junior high curriculum.

They came to the conclusion that there is some area of expression in which every individual can become a master in discussing the question: "Should Music and Art Be Required?" They came to no agreement on whether students should be divided according to their learning ability. Such a grouping would help the students develop their skills, but the educators wondered whether such a grouping would not be socially undesirable.

Teacher Shortage

The greatest shortage in the teaching profession is in the elementary field, Dr. D. L. Biemesderfer, president of the Millersville state teachers college told the schoolmen Tuesday afternoon.

"While there are more teachers in training today than in 1939, the great majority are studying in some field of special education or to be teachers in secondary schools. This year the 14 teachers' colleges in the state will graduate only 265 elementary teachers and next year, if all of the present class graduates, there will be only 253 elementary teachers entering the field. Thus the teacher situation in the elementary field will grow increasingly acute. In 1946 our school alone had calls for 185 elementary teachers. We could supply only 19," Doctor Biemesderfer said.

Five high school students and two businessmen, Joseph E. Moody and C. Fred Gibbs, both of the York Corporation, spoke on "What Are the Opportunities, Rewards, Difficulties, Hindrances and Possibilities of Teaching As a Profession?" at Tuesday afternoon's session.

Long Court Martial Ends In Acquittal

Washington, June 18 (AP)—A secret court martial which lasted 97 days acquitted Lt. Cmdr. Edward N. Little of accusations that he maltreated fellow Americans in a Japanese prisoner of war camp.

The court martial, which was closed to the public at Little's request, heard 80 witnesses.

The Navy had identified the main charges against the defendant as maltreatment of a person subject to his orders, conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline, and conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.

The Navy did not elaborate on its announcement of the acquittal verdict last night.

Labor Message From Truman On Friday

Washington, June 18 (AP)—Top Democratic and Republican leaders agreed today that House passage of the labor bill over a presidential veto is "in the bag."

The Senate may tag along, but the outcome there is less certain.

House leaders definitely expect a veto even though President Truman told reporters at Princeton, N. J., yesterday "I haven't made up my mind yet."

He said he will send a message to Congress Friday.

A veto would make labor union control the next big issue between the White House and Congress, with more potential fights in sight.

labor unions, the measure was returned to the assembly until women's equal pay legislation also was adopted—an action that occurred Monday.

Worley And Heyburn

Last vote of the session was on the $2,400 allocation for expenses and clerk hire for each senator and house member at an estimated cost of $615,000. It was adopted shortly before final adjournment with only two dissenting votes—those of Sen. Weldon B. Hayburn (R-Delaware) and Rep. Francis Worley (R-Adams).

Eleventh-hour revision of the proposed expense accounts the legislators voted themselves—it would be paid in four $600 semi-annual installments starting July 1—slowed up the last day's proceedings.

Adopted originally as a $100 a month expense account between sessions, the proposal was recalled from the governor and rewritten. Members already receive $3,000 for a regular session held every two years and mileage.

A Parting Shot

Tied in with the behind-the-scenes discussions of the expense measure were last-minute rumblings against the local tax broadening bill, labeled "must" legislation by administration leaders.

Action on the tax measure was held up for hours yesterday in both branches, but sentiment against the legislation faded rapidly once the decision to revise the expense bill was made by GOP leaders. Final action on other pending issues followed rapidly.

Firing a parting shot at the local tax measure in the senate, Sen. John J. Haluska (D-Cambria) said if we ever placed on our statute books a vicious and dangerous piece of legislation, this is it. It will come back to haunt us.

But Sen. O. J. Tallman, Republican floor leader, replied "The people of Pennsylvania needed this legislation—it is a real step towards home rule and certainly will be a big help in assisting communities which, I know, want to assume their full share of government, such as operating our schools."

As finally drafted without any exemption for natural resources, the measure passed the upper branch 44-6 and the house 144-51.

Motorcycle, Auto Crash In Littlestown

An automobile driven by G. W. Pifer, Biglerville, and a motorcycle operated by Alvin D. French, Littlestown R. 1, were damaged in a collision on West King street, Littlestown, Monday night at 11:10 o'clock. French suffered a minor injury to a knee. Damage to his motorcycle was estimated at $200, and to the car at $40.

Chief of Police Leon H. Gage, of Littlestown, who investigated the accident, said that Pifer was driving east when his car struck several oil drums bearing flares, which were standing along a sewer line excavation. French, traveling in the opposite direction, leaped from his motorcycle when the car came toward him. The riderless cycle and the car collided headon, according to the officer.

Chief of Police Gage today urged motorists driving in Littlestown to use extreme caution while sewer lines are being laid in the borough. He pointed out that when ditches are open, the driving portion of the street is made narrow, and that when ditches are closed, the sections which had been open are soft. He recommended that operators of vehicles drive more slowly than is necessary under ordinary conditions.

Kono was born and received his early education in Japan before his family moved to Hilo.

The storemen did it the hard way, overcoming a 7-1 lead the Elks had piled up in the first five innings. A pair of runs in the sixth and four in the seventh knotted the count at 7-all. In the eighth Johnson singled and after two were out Sheffer singled to drive over the winning tally.

In the nightcap the Texas Lunch captured its fifth straight win by lacing the American Legion 13-4. The Legionnaires committed seven miscues which were a big factor in the scoring.

RACE IS CLOSE IN INTERSTATE

(By The Associated Press)
Despite the fact three teams are dominating Interstate league play as the season nears the one-third mark, it appeared today that the race for the fourth and possibly the third playoff berth would be a wide-open one.

A mere two and one-half games separate fourth place Hagerstown from last place Sunbury—and that's the way it has been all season. For a while there were six teams involved in that race, but the Trenton Giants have moved into third place, and apparently seem destined for a first division berth.

The York White Roses moved into a virtual deadlock with Hagerstown for fourth place by upsetting the league leading Allentown Cardinals, 5-13.

The defeat lessened Allentown's lead to four full games over the Harrisburg Senators, who came through with a narrow 10-9 victory over seventh place Wilmington.

Meanwhile Trenton edged to within eight games of the lead with an easy 8 to 1 conquest of cellar dwelling Sunbury. Lancaster's Red Roses snapped a long losing streak with a 6-3 decision over Hagerstown to slip to within a halfgame of the first division.

LOCAL NINE IN 1-1 DEADLOCK

A two-hit pitching effort on the part of Sheetz, Gettysburg hurler, went for naught Tuesday evening when the locals and Emmitsburg battled to a 1-1 eight-inning tie in an Adams County Baseball league game at Emmitsburg.

The Legionnaires secured seven hits off Topper and bunched three in the seventh for their lone tally. After one was out March and Staley singled, Sheetz fled to left but Hankey came through with another single to score March.

Emmitsburg also tabbed a run in the seventh on a walk to Combs, and error by Sheetz, an infield out and Weikert's fly to right field.

Bendersville will play Hanover on the latter's field Thursday evening in a league game.

All prospective professional baseball players between the ages of 16-23 are invited. Players will be required to furnish their own shoes, glove, and uniforms. Any expenses incurred while attending the camp will be returned if the player is signed to a contract.

SUSTAINING POWER

I can sincerely testify to the sustaining power of prayer as the greatest force toward inward happiness that there is in this world. Prayer sweeps out the mind of all its petty worries, conditions the consciousness toward God, and leaves one enriched in body, as well as spirit.

Dr. Alexis Carrel, one of the world's great physicians and scientists, and a winner of the Nobel prize, said this: "The influence of prayer on the human mind and body is as demonstrable as that of secreted glands. Its results can be measured in terms of increased physical buoyancy, greater intellectual vigor, moral stamina, and a deeper understanding of the realities underlying human relationship."

Prayer is not the process of asking for things, but of seeking a sustaining power to guide us out of selfishness into a unity with forces far beyond our frailty and helplessness. It's an opening of the heart to an Unseen Power that has not only created the universe but given to every human being its entity. We are one with God the moment that we start talking to Him.

Every time we pray our spiritual energy is both enriched and increased, and we establish a way of life that connects us with the eternal verities. All truth, all beauty, all the wonders and mysteries of life are made more understandable. And prayer wipes out all fear. "No man," said Emerson, "ever prayed without learning something."

No eloquence is essential—just the simple outpouring of the heart, in words that are fashioned in the heart. It's the one sure way to educate the heart and make it honestly responsive to every call of emergency in life. Prayer can completely change a man and place him upon an even keel with his fellowman, and in tune with the Infinite.

There is a flame of hope ever burning in the contrite heart. Prayer gives to this flame its illumination, brightening each succeeding day, and giving to life its unquenchable courage. Prayer is the path to an enlightened humility, and prayer constantly repairs a wavering faith. It is the source of all peace and tranquility.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Singleness of Purpose"

BEGINNING TO TALK

At first a word, then two and three. And then a sentence all complete; I'm sure no speech can lovelier be Than that a baby's lips repeat.

First words in memory are penned And cherished fondly down the years. They'll be remembered to the end—The sweetest to a mother's ears.

Then as the mind is opened wide And sentences begin to flow, No richer source of joy and pride The dotting human heart can know.

The first soft smile is good to view. There's triumph in the first brief walk. But it is rapture, through and through, To hear the baby start to talk.

BARRETT HAILED NO. 1 COMEBACK OF '47 SEASON

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Charlie Barrett, who is being hailed as the number one "comeback" of 1947 today owes his success to his remarkable control pitching.

The rambunctious redhead, whose decline from a 23-game winner in 1945 to a three-time loser last season caused his banishment from the world champion St. Louis Cardinals to the Boston Braves last winter, currently is the hottest hurler in the Majors. Including yesterday's 11-1 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds, Barrett has won five straight to bring his season record to six wins and three defeats.

The amazing part of his mound work is that in his last 45 innings, Barrett has issued only two bases on balls.

Barrett was tagged pretty solidly by the Reds yesterday, being clubbed for 12 hits, but Cincinnati left 10 men on the basepaths. In fact it took a home run by Grady Hatton to produce the Reds' only run.

Lead By Full Game
The Braves' one-sided triumph, their fourth straight, increased their first place margin in the National league pennant race to a full game over the runner-up New York Giants.

The upsurging St. Louis Cardinals gained their sixth consecutive victory last night when they came from behind with a three-run upsurge in the last of the ninth to eke out a 7-6 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies. A triple by Stan Musial with the bases loaded and one out brought in the runs. The win put the Cards into fifth place, five and a half games off the pace.

Carl Scheib, 20-year-old right-hander from Gratz, Pa., pitched his second complete game of his career in organized baseball and for the second time within a week defeated the Detroit Tigers as the Philadelphia Athletics won 5-2.

Feller Fans Nine
Bob Feller fanned nine batters to raise his season total to 96 and pitched the Cleveland Indians to a 5-3 victory over the Washington Senators before 30,701, largest crowd of the season at Griffith stadium.

The defending American league champion Boston Red Sox registered their seventh victory in a row by defeating the St. Louis Browns 6-5. The win put the Sox in undisputed possession of second place one game behind the New York Yankees.

The scheduled night game between the Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates in Pittsburgh was postponed by rain as was the day game between Brooklyn and the Cubs in Chicago. The Yankees and Chicago White Sox were not scheduled.

Oil City Back In Top Position

(By The Associated Press)
The Oil City Refiners won their third consecutive doubleheader last night, downing the Erie Sailors 4-0 and 12-10 and climbing back into first place in the Middle Atlantic league.

Russell Rodemeyer pitched six hit shutout ball in the seven-inning opener while his battery-mate contributed a homer with one man on. The second game was a wild affair, each team getting 14 hits off a total of nine pitchers.

The Vandergrift Pioneers, whose game with Johnstown was rained out, dropped back into second place, a half game behind Oil City. The double drubbing lowered the once proud Erie Sailors into a bad third, three full games behind the Refiners.

The Youngstown Colts climbed from seventh to sixth place in the standings by defeating the Niagara Falls Frontiers for the third consecutive time, 8-6. Harry Anderson and Shine Richardson, with three hits apiece, starred for the Colts.

The Uniontown-Butler game also was rained out.

Harrisburg Signs Penn State Hurler

Harrisburg, Pa., June 18 (AP)—The Harrisburg Senators of the class B Interstate league have signed Ken Yount, former Penn State pitcher who worked five innings for the parent Cleveland Indians when the Tribe defeated Harrisburg 12-3 two days ago.

The 22-year-old native of Kittanning, Pa., in addition to winning 11 and losing three in two years with Penn State, batted a neat .356 dividing his playing time between the outfield and the pitching mound.

SEEK ROWING TRIALS

Philadelphia, June 18 (AP)—The city of Philadelphia, which is seeking to be the site of the 1952 Olympic games, will bid for the 1948 Olympic rowing trials next Sunday.

Phillies Acquire Two New Youngsters

Philadelphia, June 18 (AP)—The rebuilding Philadelphia Phillies have signed two new youngsters, 18-year-old George Thomas, highly-regarded Baltimore schoolboy pitcher, and Joe Lord, baseball and basketball star at Villanova college.

Thomas, who fanned 150 in eight games, will play with Terre Haute in the Three-Eye league, and Lord will be assigned to the Dover, (Del.), club of the Eastern Shore league.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

Detroit, June 18 (AP)—Lew Worsham and the other pro golfing "rookies" who did well in the open last week, will be up against another kind of test today in the National P.G.A. tournament. . . . Not only is it a match play affair, something that a lot of pros dislike, but the Plum Hollow course is long and open, giving the sluggers a chance to shine, in contrast to the short, narrow St. Louis Country club course. . . . Dizzy Trout, the Tiger pitcher, got a free golf lesson, the other day from George Schnitzler, Salt Lake City pro. . . . And after watching Diz belt a few drives, Tony Tiso of Tuckahoe—ain't that euphonious—commented: "I wish I had just one half of the power you waste."

NO EXCUSES
Branch Rickey, Jr., tells this one on himself about the signing of Tom Brown, the strong armed youngster who figures prominently in Dodger future plans. . . . Brown was only 15 years old when he appeared at a Dodger tryout camp and was sent away with a kind word because he was too young and too small. . . . The next year he returned again and made such an impression that he was signed to a minor league contract. . . . While getting his name on the paper, Branch, Jr., complimented Tom warmly on his throwing. . . . Brown replied: "You know I was here last year and was told I didn't have a good enough arm." "Is that so?" Branch asked in amazement. "Who told you that?" . . . Tommy grinned: "Why, you did, Mr. Rickey."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
Baseball Commissioner Happy Chandler says the organized ball-high school agreement is working out very well, but some of the others are beginning to wonder. . . . They point out that a lot of clubs would have liked to sign Curt Simmons, the Pennsylvania schoolboy pitching phenom, but they were all sure the Phillies had the inside track. . . . Bobby Locke, who is getting rather homesick for South Africa, passed up the British open to have a shot at George May's big wad of cash in the All-America tournament in Chicago. But he won't play in the victory open the week before. That won't help cement friendly relations between Mr. May and the U.S.A.

VIOLINIST DIES
Geneva, Switzerland, June 18 (AP)—Bronislaw Huberman, 64, hailed both in the United States and abroad as one of the greatest violinists of his time, died Monday at his home at Nant-sur-Corsier, Switzerland, a short time after he had returned from a concert tour of Italy.

New Coaches For West Virginia
Morgantown, W. Va., June 18 (AP)—Two college coaches announced yesterday they were quitting to take jobs at West Virginia university which refused to confirm the appointments. Leonard Barnum said in Parkersburg he was resigning as head football and baseball coach at Marietta (Ohio) college to become backfield mentor under Bill Kern at the university. Barnum said his resignation was effective June 30.

Steve Harriack sent a telegram to President M. J. Horsch of West Virginia Tech to report he was resigning as head coach and athletic director. Harriack has been mentioned as wrestling and baseball coach at the university.

Dean G. Ott Romney, chairman of the university's athletic council, admitted "several appointments of personnel" were made yesterday. But he declined to discuss them, saying they were sent for approval to President Irvin Stewart, who is out of town.

Yesterdays Stars
(By The Associated Press)
Pitching, Charlie (Red) Barrett, Braves—scattered 12 hits and for the fifth time this season, walked none as he pitched the Braves to an 11-1 triumph over the Reds.

Batting, Stan Musial, Cardinals—tripled with the bases loaded in the ninth inning to drive in three runs and give the Cardinals a 7-6 win over the Phillies.

The local delegation will appear at the American Olympic rowing committee meeting at New York to announce the availability of the Schuylkill river for the trials.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:
Lincoln's Gettysburg address, at the time of its delivery, was received with little enthusiasm.

Yesterday, while visiting the battlefield here, I stopped at the square, and listened without too much enthusiasm to a Flag Day address, held over from Saturday because of the rain, which was being received by a smallish crowd, also without too much apparent enthusiasm.

The man had not spoken long before I was gripped. For what was flowing from his lips was something I had frankly thought to be a "thing of the past"—namely, the living Word of God whereby this nation was founded and sustained.

There are such things as political platitudes. I do not believe that in 1947 A.D., in the United States of America, it is platitudinous to challenge red blood, to reaffirm the literal sacredness of the Book and the Flag, and to relegate to their proper distance the present bogeys of national life. Such affirmation today is rather a treasure hid in the field.

And if—thrust the length and breadth of this land—it were to be stated with conviction and received with conviction, it would bring, as it were, life from the dead.

Is this sacredness of the Book and the Flag being given even lip-service in Washington today?

Another incident may throw providential light on this.

Last night in the hotel here I was awakened from a sound sleep at 2 in the morning.

Interesting News Of Upper Adams Countians And Their Enterprises

BENDERSVILLE FIRE COMPANY MEETS TONIGHT

Bendersville's fire company will meet this evening at the community hall to set up its committees for the forthcoming bazaar and festival to be held in August.

President Parker Kuntz in announcing the special meeting, said that appointment of the committees and laying of plans for the annual event would occupy the entire evening. The bazaar will be held August 14, 15 and 16.

Meantime the company was continuing to work on the "Apple Bowl," Bendersville's community park and baseball diamond which overlooks the town and is one of the top ball parks in this section.

Members of the company have dug holes and placed posts for the fence to be put around the playing field and expect to finish that job this week. They also plan to start work on a grandstand this week, company officials said.

Playground equipment including sliding boards, swings, see-saws and the like have been installed by the company in the park that overlooks the playing field and a number of town residents, particularly the youngsters, have already used the equipment. The firemen hope their grove will prove a most popular summer picnic and play place for the community. Tennis courts are also available at the playgrounds. The Rev. Dr. O. D. Coble heads the committee in charge of the tennis courts.

The use of tobacco is more widespread than that of any other narcotic or stimulant.

No Locust Broods Until Next Year

No 17-year locusts are scheduled to appear in Pennsylvania this year, according to Dr. A. B. Champlain, principal entomologist in the Bureau of Plant Industry, state Department of Agriculture.

Nine of the 30 different broods or hatches of the periodical cicada are known to exist in this state, each brood appearing in a different year, but reappearing in its own locality every 17 years. Brood I showed up in a few southern Pennsylvania counties in 1943. Brood II emerged in 16 eastern counties in 1945.

According to the schedule of appearances that has been compiled by Dr. Champlain, the next batch of 17-year locusts will not emerge from the ground until 1948.

New Disease Among Cattle Is Discovered

Discovery of a highly destructive and infectious disease of cattle that previously was not known to exist in Pennsylvania, was announced today by Miles Horst, state secretary of agriculture. Known as "anaplasmosis," the disease is caused by a microparasite carried by ticks, horseflies, mosquitoes and probably other biting insects. All cattle that recover become carriers, sources of danger to others, he said. The disease is not transmissible to man but has been found in goats, sheep and deer. Treatment is largely a veterinary problem and medicine has not been too satisfactory, the secretary explained.

The Chinese often call the ricksha "the foreign cart," because it was first invented and used by white men.

The word "baruch" is Hebrew for "blessed."

A Pennsylvania peach crop that should be better than average and only about 200,000 bushels under that of last year, was predicted today by the state Department of Agriculture following a federal-state survey of the fruit situation in the state. No estimates of apples will be available until July 10.

Based on reports of growers made as of June 1, the survey showed an indicated production of 2,010,000 bushels of peaches this year from Pennsylvania orchards. This compares with 2,226,000 last year and the 10-year average (1936-1945) of 1,809,000 bushels.

The 1947 cherry crop as of June 1, was estimated at 6,400 tons, 1-100 more than last year but less than the average of 7,280 tons.

Pear production this year is estimated at 348,000 bushels compared with 345,000 last year and the 10-year average of 430,000 bushels.

In commenting on the fruit outlook for this year the federal-state report said: "All fruits, excluding grapes, bloomed late and profusely. The period of bloom was relatively short and pollination generally hampered by rains. The new record low temperatures on May 8, 9, and 10 caused considerable damage to fruit in the southern half of the State and to early varieties in blossom in northern counties. Low-lying orchards suffered most, but the full extent of the damage will not be apparent until after the June drop, which is expected to be heavy."

Members of the Upper Adams county Sportsmen's Association will meet Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the Bendersville community hall for their regular meeting, President Charles Gulden announced today.

Final reports on the recent bazaar held by the sportsmen will be presented at the Thursday session.

News Of Interest To Upper Communities Of County

ARENDSVILLE PLANS TO BUY NEW PUMPER

The Arendtsville fire company will have a new fire engine by fall if recent plans go through. Fire Company President Emory Isel, in announcing that the company is planning to buy a new pumper, said that the new equipment was needed to properly serve the territory of the Arendtsville company.

The present pumper, purchased in 1926, is proving too slow to reach in the Valley section as quickly as necessary, he added. The company plans to retain its old engine as an auxiliary pumper with fire company officials pointing out that two engines are needed to give proper protection in case more than one fire occurs at a time.

To Meet Tonight
At present the company is using a larger sprayer owned by the Arendtsville laboratory as an auxiliary fire engine and hopes to continue to have permission to operate the sprayer even after the new pumper is purchased.

While arrangements have not been completed the company expects to obtain a final statement from several salesmen before making the purchase. Several thousand dollars will be spent for the engine, but it was not known yet what the amount would be. Several members of the company will be sent to the factory to pick up the truck after its purchase.

The company is also planning to hold a festival July 12 in addition to the Mardi Gras scheduled for Halloween. The festival originally was scheduled for June 21, but was postponed until July 12. Final arrangements for the festival will be made at a meeting of the fire company to be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the engine house.

The proprietress, a graduate of Biglerville high school, studied at the Joyce Art Beauty school in Harrisburg.

FARM CALENDAR

Cow Comfort Pays—Hot days of summer take a toll from the milk pail unless the dairyman provides for the comfort of his cows, reminds R. H. Olmstead, extension dairy specialist of the Pennsylvania State college. Where shade and water are not accessible to good pasture, the cows should be left out of the barn only a few hours at a time.

Prune Berry Shoots—Tip-pruning of new black raspberry shoots when they are about 20 inches long is recommended by C. S. Bittner, extension fruit specialist of the Pennsylvania State college. The pruning can be done by pinching off the tips by hand, by using pruning or thinning shears, or by swinging a heavy knife at the right height.

Control Pig Pests—Keep growing pigs free of lice and mange parasites by use of a rubbing post, advises L. C. Madison, extension livestock specialist of the Pennsylvania State college. Wrap the post with rope or gunnysacks saturated with crankcase oil.

Omit Hand Stripping—Dairymen who use managed milking methods do not have to hand strip their cows, says I. E. Parkin, extension dairy specialist of the Pennsylvania State college. Improper hand stripping irritates and injures udder and teat tissues.

Spray Cherries—Blossom blight infection and brown rot, generally prevalent on sweet cherries at petal fall this year, can be controlled by using the regular spray schedule prepared by the Pennsylvania State college agricultural extension service.

Prune Christmas Trees—Between June 15 and mid-July is the best time to prune trees grown for the Christmas trade, says W. W. Simonds, extension forester of the Pennsylvania State college. Shearing the long-needed pines then allows the new buds at fresh-cut ends of limbs to make normal growth and results in a well-shaped tree.

Defines Average Farmer—If the average Pennsylvania farmer could be found he would have about 5 milk cows, 92 laying hens, 4 hogs, 2 sheep, and a half interest in a beef being fattened for market, reports G. E. Brandow, agricultural economist of the Pennsylvania State college.

Clip Pastures Early—If the grass in the pasture gets ahead of the dairy cattle, it is time to clip it, according to J. B. R. Dickey, extension agronomist of the Pennsylvania State college. Clipping allows succulent, palatable, and productive new growth to become available for grazing.

Fertilize Strawberries—A side-dressing of nitrate of soda or sulphate of ammonia at the rate of 200 pounds an acre will help newly-set strawberry plants to form new runners and plants faster, says C. S. Bittner, fruit extension specialist of the Pennsylvania State college. First remove blossoms and young fruits.

Control Rose Disease—Spray roses

THREE TONS OF GOLD OR GRIEF RIDE INTO TOWN

Philadelphia, June 18 (AP)—About three tons of what seamen said might be "gold or grief" rode into Philadelphia on the deck of a freighter to await analysis which will decide whether it brings its finders a small fortune or a disposal headache.

The added cargo, stowed in oil drums on the deck of the American freighter Eastern Guide, was believed to be ambergris, a highly odoriferous secretion of whales currently valued at $5 an ounce for its use as a base in the manufacture of perfumes.

If it is ambergris, the cargo is expected to be worth about $480,000.

Must Pay Tax
The yellowish mass was sighted floating in the Atlantic off the Azores and Capt. Frank Santina at weekly intervals with 8-8-100 Bordeaux mixture to control blackspot. Aid Swine Comfort—Hogs on pasture need ample water and shade to make them more comfortable during the hot days of summer.

of Montclair, N. J., said inspection made it seem worthwhile bringing into port. Representatives of the agents for the vessel were on hand to take a sample.

The local customs office said it also would take a sample and if it proved to be ambergris, its value would be subject to a 20 per cent import duty. The 37 crew members, according to federal revenue agents, also will have to pay income taxes on their share of the "cut"—if there is any.

PROVIDE FOR INSPECTION
Harrisburg, June 18 (AP)—The general assembly passed a bill in its closing hours to place boarding houses for children under regulation of the State Welfare department. The measure, sent to Governor James H. Duff, would require licensing and inspection of boarding homes. Operators without a state permit after January 1, 1948, would be subject to a maximum fine of $200 and six months in jail.

Chapter 27

Rush stood in the door of his room at 8:30 a.m. and surveyed his army. They were all there. Smoky stretched full length on the bed. Robin at the window. Merwin sitting on the edge of the bed studying a scratch sheet, his lips moving as he read. Duffy sat in the arm chair, his short legs bent over an arm.

"Hy, Rush," said Duffy. "Come in."

"Thanks, Duff," said Rush.

"Nice bed you got here," called Smoky from his supine position.

"Got any booze? I'm a man who likes a drink in the morning."

"You're closest, Duff, pour me a large hooter."

Duffy swung his feet to the floor and walked to the dresser. He uncorked the bottle of rye and poured a half inch in a glass.

"I got a bad taste myself. This ought to fix it," He poured the ounce of whiskey down his throat and shook his head. "Rotgut," he said. He put the glass down and reached for the bottle. His hand hovered for a moment over the bottle, wavered, then flew to his collar. A gurgling sound grew deep in his throat. His knees buckled and he fell across the dresser. He retched twice. Then slowly almost deliberately his body tilted a little to the right and folded to the floor.

Rush was at his side kneeling over him before he hit the floor.

His hand went inside Duffy's shirt over his heart. He held it there for a long time. Then he stood up very slowly and looked around the room. Every eye was on him. He shook his head slowly.

"Not a sign of heartbeat," he said. "It must have been cyanide." He looked down at Duffy. "Thanks, Duff," he said. "It should have been me. If I hadn't overslept, it would have been me. Nine mornings out of ten I take a slug of whiskey instead of a mouth wash. This morning I was late so I missed. So Duffy gets it."

Robin walked over to the dresser and examined the bottle carefully. He smelled it, poured a little in a glass and looked through it at the light.

"The bottle's half empty. Rush. How'd the stuff get in it?"

Rush shook his head.

"That's what bothers me, Robin. I was drinking out of it last night just before I went to bed. When did you get here?"

Robin looked at Smoky.

"It was about nine-fifteen, wasn't it?"

Smoky nodded.

"Maybe nine-twenty," he said.

"Then there was nobody in the room for three quarters of an hour. You aren't the only guy who can pick locks. Smoky. Also, there're always more keys to hotel rooms."

He walked to the phone.

"What're you gonna do, Rush?" asked Smoky.

"Call the cops. We can't hide this one."

He put in a call to police headquarters and asked homicide to send a squad. Then he hung up and turned back to his gang.

"I want you all to scam, one at a time. The cops'll try to hang this one on me and they may make it stick. If you were here they'd toss you in too. I need somebody outside to get some work done on my side. They'll just pick up that bottle, lift my prints and railroad me. I'll need help."

They didn't like it but they recognized the logic of Rush's argument. They slipped out of the room leaving Rush with Duffy. Ten minutes later a hammering on the door announced the law. They ran absolutely true to Rush's predictions. They asked a question or two. Looked at the bottle, at Duffy then at Rush. Inside of five minutes they had handcuffs on Rush and he was out of the room and on his way to a cell. The steel door clanged shut.

They hadn't even booked him. Rush realized that he was buried, incommunicado.

A half a package of cigarettes later the cell door opened and a figure entered the half light of the cell. He sat on the single wooden chair that stood opposite the cot. Rush peered at him through the dimness.

"Hello, Max," he said as he recognized his visitor. "What brings you here?"

Carney lit a huge cigar with great deliberation.

"I came here because I'm scared stiff, Henry." He held up a hand to stop Rush from talking. "Let me finish. I know what you're in town for. You want to run me out. I also know that you're not going around knocking off everybody that gets in your way. You got too much to lose and the price isn't high enough to hire your gun. Even a five year did ape could tell that that setup in your hotel room was aimed at you and misfired. But it makes a nice frame. I think they could make it stick with a little help from a friendly judge and a
